Whether it is the Navy, Army, Air Force or Reserves you are interested in, a great variety of opportunities are available with the ADF.

In addition to defending the nation, the ADF supports a broad range of peacetime operations in Australia and overseas. Whether it is the Navy, Army, Air Force or Reserves that you are interested in, there is a great variety of opportunities available to work, study or even take a Gap Year with the ADF.

AUSTRALIAN DEFENCE FORCE ACADEMY (ADFA)
The Australian Defence Force Academy is a military institution which combines military education and training with academic study for an undergraduate degree. ADFA provides the opportunity for individuals to undertake a program of military and leadership training while studying and receiving a salary. The training and education provides individuals with the foundation knowledge, skills, professional abilities and character qualities necessary to become an Officer in the Australian Defence Force. On graduation, midshipmen and officer cadets become permanent full-time members of the Australian Defence Force. For more information on ADFA, visit defence.gov.au/ADFA.
