• Owned by seven Queensland universities

What do we do?

• Provide information about tertiary study and courses
• Process and assess approximately 75,000 applications per year

• Calculate and award ATARs.

How are IB Diploma students considered for entry to tertiary courses in Australia?

Results from completed IB Diplomas are reported as an IB Score on a whole number scale between 24 and 45. These are converted into a national ATAR-like value to allow IB students to be considered for tertiary places alongside their counterparts who have completed state curricula or other qualifications.

This national ATAR-like value is known as the Combined Rank because it is a national conversion which combines results from across all states.

This means that IB students can apply in any Australian state or territory with confidence about how their results compare to their peers who have completed state curricula and received an ATAR.
How are IB Diploma students considered for entry to tertiary courses through QTAC?

Students with a completed IB Diploma are considered for a tertiary study through QTAC on the basis of meeting the minimum course entry requirements, such as subject prerequisites, and their QTAC Selection Rank.

Converting an IB score to a QTAC Selection Rank is a two step process:

- STEP 1: Your IB score from a completed IB Diploma is converted to a ‘Combined Rank’ according to the rules agreed nationally.
- STEP 2: QTAC converts your combined rank to a QTAC Selection Rank. (Differing terminology is used interstate, eg some states refer to this as a ‘notional ATAR’.)

To help IB students understand their QTAC Selection Rank based on their IB Score, a conversion table is available on the QTAC website.

Your QTAC Selection Rank

QTAC Selection Ranks and ATARs both have scales from 0.00 to 99.95.

This means that IB students receiving, for example, a QTAC Selection Rank of 99.75 will be considered for tertiary admissions alongside students who received an ATAR of 99.75.

Note, IB students are not awarded an ATAR for their completed IB Diploma and they do not need to register for an ATAR in QTAC’s ATAR Portal.
By identifying as an IB student on your QTAC application, your IB score and subject results will be received electronically by QTAC and automatically converted for the purposes of selection and meeting prerequisites.

OTHER PATHWAYS FOR TERTIARY ENTRY
QTAC administers the admissions policies of the tertiary institutions it represents. QTAC also develops schedules to promote common assessment practices, however each institution autonomously determines their admissions rules.

From 2020, QTAC has withdrawn its common VET, music and performing arts, and incomplete IB Diploma schedules, as stand-alone pathways for Year 12 students to tertiary study.

A number of Queensland institutions, however, have developed institution-specific policies and schedules for Year 12 students and QTAC will administer these on their behalf.

More information is available on QTAC’s and institutions’ websites.
